TAKING OF PROFITS CAUSED A RE-ACTION IN CHICAGO WHEAT.

Corn and Oats Were Dull and Depressed in Sympathy with Wheat -Provisions Unchanged.

CHICAGO, Feb. 29.—Business in wheat today was almost entirely in the hands of the scalping contingent. News was conflicting, and fluctuations were frequent in consequence, but were within narrow lines. the close showing a 140 recession. Corn and terial changes. Provisions were stronger and showed good advances. Wheat was less active and averaged lower. There was not much disposition to operate, and the trade was narrow as well as light, and the whole fluctuation of the session only %c, but keep-The opening was rather weak and nervous, this side yesterday, they, on the contrary, showing slight declines. Northwestern receipts, which amounted to 490 cars, were considerably more than last week, and cut from Argentine-1,250,000 bu. Another factor of like tendency was the more moderate exports f m both coasts last week, 2,209,-000 bu, against 3,149,000 bu the preceding week, and 2,689,000 bu for the same period in 1895. The rather light trade was also something of a factor of like tendency. But weather advices were not very encouraging. It was very cold in the Northwest, with indications that the low temperature might spread to the Southwest. There was also a renewal of cash business gossip, and some large amounts were reported taken at various points. This caused a sharp rally, during which the price went to last night's close. But dull trade and some doubt as to the genuineness of the cash business caused a subsequent decline. May opened about %c lower, at 67%@67%c, sold up to 67%c, and gradually weakened to 67%c, closing steady at 67%c bid.

Corn was dull and uninteresting, taking its tone entirely from wheat; May opened to lower and fluctuated within a te range, closing steady at 30%@30%c bid.

Oats were also very dull, trading being almost entirely local. Prices held steady, fluctuating seldom and within narrow lines; May opened a shade easier at 21%@21%c and closed at 21%c, yesterday's closing fig-

Provisions showed strength from the tart, due to the better feeling of the live stock market, and received very good support all day, under which prices advanced steadily. Final figures were practically the highest of the day. At the close May pork showed an advance of 15c, and lard and ribs about 65c each

Weak Values Throughout. The month of February, which ended on Saturday, was one in which trade in most lines fell considerably below expectations. Still, in some lines, such as groceries, provisions, seeds, leather, drugs, iron, flour and hay, the business of February this year compares favorably with February, 1895, but in neither line did it reach expectations of the early part of the month. Only in the last week did trade come anywhere near expectations. On Commission row the duil trade was the most seriously felt, with a range of prices lower than in any February of twenty years. In all lines the week ending Feb. 29, the volume of trade was so much of an improvement as to encourage even the commission men. Prices paid for

In February, but eggs and butter were 50 per cent. lower throughout the month than in February, 1816. Staple groceries were firm, except roasted grades of coffees. Sugars advanced during the month. Dry goods were weak and declines in several lines were made. The drug market ruled firm. Leather was weak. Provisions on most descriptions of hog products at the close of the month were lower. Flour was about 40c per barrel higher. Fruits and vegetables were in ample supply and sold low. supply and sold low.

The local grain market was quiet through the entire month and the range on the last day of the month varied but little from the first. Track bids ruled as follows:

CHICAGO, Feb. 29 .- Cattle-Although receipts continue low, there is no improvemen in prices. It is more a matter of light de-mand than liberal supply. Exporters are good purchasers at the ruling low figures, but otherwise trade is nothing to boast of. The demand for feeders has at last almost ceased, and prices are lower. Prices to-day ruled as follows: Fancy beeves, $4.30@4.50; steers, common to choice, $3.25@4.25; stockers and feeders, $2.65@3.65; bulls, cows and helfers, $2.50@ veal calves, $5.25@6.25; Texas steers, Hogs-Receipts to-day were light, and the supply was pretty well taken at yesterday's decline. DRIA POLICEMAN FOR MURDER.

Called and Feeling Runs High-Wabash College Faculty Is Firm.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ALEXANDRIA, Ind., Feb. 29.-There are threats of lynching policeman John Graham here to-night for shooting and killing John Worthington, a steel worker, from Ashland, Ky., this afternoon. Graham went to Riverrested a man and took him to jail and then went back to arrest others. When he arrived on the scene an angry mob of the prisoner's friends surrounded Graham, and, thinking that his life was in danger, he began to shoot at the crowd. One bullet hit Worthington near the heart, killing him instantly. In the confusion Graham made his escape, and, going up town, gave himself up. Coroner S. C. Sells was notified, and will hold the inquest to-morrow.

the landlady, and patrolman Graham was sent to arrest him. Feeling among his fellow-workmen is running high to-night, and a mass meeting of steel workers has been called to take action. The men are openly talking of lynching. Graham claims he shot in self-defense. All law firms in the city have already been engaged on one side or the similar circumstances.

Faculty Refuses to Arbitrate the Suspension of Two Freshmen. CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind., Feb. 29.-The faculty of Wabash College has refused to reinstate the two suspended freshmen, as demanded by the freshman class under a threat of leaving college. The faculty has gone even a step further, and it is probable that on Monday morning they will suspend two sophomores for unbecoming conduct during the observance of Washington's birthday. As the matter now stands, it must be a back-down of the faculty or the student says: Two sophomores, two freshmen and one preparatory student have been suspended by the faculty. Two of this numdents undergoing the necessary discipline may, if the faculty see fit, resume their work at a later period, providing they show a disposition to live up to the regulations of the college. This is a result of the celebration of Washington's birthday. The Wabash senior publication, just issued, says editorially.

Wabash received a good deal of free d undesirable advertising in many of the leading papers. From the glaring head-lines and highly exaggerated reports sent out the public at large would be disposed to believe that Wabash is an institution whose students are of the hoodlum element that spend their time in planning riots and street brawls. One paper contained a column and a half on the first page, headed 'Wabash Students in a Riot.' Another told how the president was pursued through the streets of the city by an infuriated mob of students and was compelled to seek refuge in a cellar. They ing a flag to the tower of Center Hall, deliberately thrown down by a burly nomore. If the simple facts, with-this coloring, had been reported, the newspapers would have rejected them as inworthy of the space they required. It has been this result of the celebration that the faculty has feared more than an undue display of class spirit. The blame, of course reverts to the newspaper correspondents. I s certainly to be regretted that there are in this city reporters so entirely devoid of honor as to send out such reports. They have insulted not only the college, but the State and the families represented here. It is certain that such men cannot long enter-tain the respect and confidence of this com-

Prof. Moore is sixty-four years old and he was born on a farm near Salem, Washington county, Indiana, in 1832. He taught his first school at nineteen, in Jackson county, and from that time to this he has been connected in some way with the work of education. He was a pupil of the late Barnabas C. Hobbs and for two years was at Harvard, under the instruction of Prof. Agassiz. After the war he went South and organized normal schools, being backed in the work by the Baltimore Yearly Meet-ing of Friends. Between 1865 and 1870 he was made president of the college, holding the position until 1881, when his health compelled him to retire, and he was succeeded of Guilford College, North Carolina. In 1887 he again returned here and connected himself with Earlham as a teacher of natural science and has since held that position.

A part of 1874-75 Prof. Moore spent on nent educators of the country, among them Prof. A. D. White, of Cornell, and Prof. E. E. White, of Purdue, and was an acquaintance and friend of the poet Whittier. At the comparatively ripe age of sixty-four he is in good health and bids fair to see many more years of active life. He has done much work for Earlham College; in devoted to the interests of that institution He has done some especially good work for the museum and the latest addition to that department, the mastodon, was secured through his instrumentalities.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. FARMLAND, Ind., Feb. 29.-If there is one thing that Randolph county is noted for more than another it is the number of musicians within her borders. While every class of music has its numerous votaries, those who handle the "fiddle and the bow" seem there are no less than a dozen young ladies and twice as many men who are experts with the violin, and the same ratio seems to prevail throughout the county. With the advent of imported German violinists as in-structors, the old-fashioned tunes such as "The Devil's Dream," "Fisher's Hornpipe," "Arkansaw Traveler," etc., have been relegated to the rear to give place to the mod-ern airs. The old fiddlers of the county greatly resented this intrusion on their sacred rights and about four years ago or-ganized an "Old Fiddlers' Club," the main rose of which was to protect the old which the new teachers were trying to exterminate. The organization contains about one hundred members and has upon its roll the names of bankers, ministers, farmers and members of every profession or calling. By means of "Old Fiddlers" Corcerts," given at various places throughout the State, they have accumulated a handsome sum in their treasury and are prepared to repei the advances of those imported German airs, which they claim are devoid of music and fail to thrill the soul like the old-time tunes our grandfathers used to play. The club gave one of its famous concerts at the opera house to-night and the way the tickets were sold plainly shows that the old-fashioned music of the "violin and bow" has a hold upon the publie that cannot be eradicated.

Hamilton County Has Two Candidates

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Feb. 29.-For some time it has been expected that an agreement would be made so that only one name would be presented at the Crawfordsville convention as a candidate for Congress from this side addition to quell some trouble, and ar- | county. Dr. A. R. Tucker recently seat a letter to all the delegates, asking them to meet here to-day and decide the matter so that only one candidate would go from Hamilton county. Only eight of the forty delegates met, and so no action was taken. This virtually settles the question, and both the names of Hon. Robert Graham and Dr. A. R. Tucker will be presented to the convention. Other names may be sprung, as the woods are full of aspiring Congressmen in

Anderson's Evil Resorts. Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ANDERSON, Ind., Feb. 29.-There is a rivalry between the cities of Elwood and Anderson that promises to result in sensation developments within the next few days. For the past three months the Anderson Democrat has been constantly slurring the police of Elwood and alleging that gambling was encouraged in that city, while the prosecuting attorney was negligent in the administration of his official duties. The whole thing was inspired for political effect, but Elwood is preparing to get even in a way that will be surprising to Judge Ellison, who had Mayor Finch, of Elwood, on the rack for several hours recently in this city. There has been resentative of an Elwood paper in Anderon for the past week, securing evidence concerning the saloons, dives and gam-bling resorts here. The result of this in-vestigation is to be made public in an Elwood paper in a series of articles. Then the Elwood people who have been made to suffer will demand a rigid enforcement of

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. RUSHVILLE, Ind., Feb. 29.-William Whaling, Guy Offutt, Eddie Casady and Ted Wilson, a quartet of Rushville boys of good families, ranging in ages from fifteen to twenty, have for some weeks been planning an expedition to Cuba to aid the insurgents. About fifteen other boys were connected with them at the inception of the scheme, and they dubbed themselves the "Cuban Avengers." The four boys that still clung to the Avengers determined yes-terday afternoon to start for the field of the Cuban struggle. A colored boy named William Everrett started with them. The five embryo warriors boarded an bound freight train in the C., H. yards. An hour or two after their departure the boys' relatives learned their in-tention, and a message was at once sent to Connersville to intercept them. The lads, in foraging in Connersville for their sup-per, were found by the police and sent back to Rushville at 10 o'clock last night. The lads had absented themselves from yesterday afternoon to prepare for the ex-

FOR ANOTHER'S CRIME

THEORAN COLLIER, A CONVICT, SHOWN TO HAVE BEEN INNOCENT.

Granted a Conditional Pardon by the Governor-A Confession by Collier's Companion.

Theoran Collier, a prisoner at the southern penitentiary, was granted a conditional pardon by Governor Matthews yesterday. He was sentenced from the Sullivan county court in January, 1825, for a term of three years, after having been found gullty of arson. Recently-discovered evidence indicates that Collier has been serving a sentence for a crime he did not commit, as the man who did commit the crime has made a confession and received a sentence of five years for it. The pardon was asked by the julge of the court where Collier was tried, by the prosecutor, the jury that tried him, and many A large barn was destroyed as a result of the crime. Collier, it seems, was in very bad company that night, and he was seen running away from the place. He was arrested and found guilty, although he stoutly denied having set fire to the barn. The confession of the man who pleads guilty to the crime is to the effect that he and Collier were together that night and they had been drinking. They stopped near the barn that was destroyed. Coher held the horse, and, acording to the confession, he did not participate in the crime nor know that it was going to be committed. His first knowledge of a crime came when he saw the flames, and then it was that he made haste to get away. He has served a little over one year, because he was in bad company on the night of the crime. The Governor pardons him on the condition that he is to abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors. The Murphy League's Lawsuit. The case of the Murphy Temperance League against Buser, after going through two or three justices' courts here, was sent on change of venue to Magistrate Feller, at Mount Jackson, where it was tried by a jury yesterday. There was a dispute about the possession of Milliken's Hall, Columbia avenue and Ninth street, where the league held its meetings. Buser took forcible possession of the premises and removed the furniture belonging to the league. Sults charging Buser with malicious trespass failed. Then he was sued for $40 damages. The case was venued by Buser. The jury rendered a verdict in his favor yesterday. One of the "Con" Men Identified. While detective Kratz, of Baltimore, was here with requisition papers for Frank Hubbel, or W. Jules, as he is known in that city, he looked through the rogues' gallery at the police station and identified the picture of T. B. Bowers as being that of a man arrested with C. T. Linnel for trying to work a "con game" in Baltimore. Kratz says that Linnel escaped. The two men were arrested in this city some time ago. They were suspected of having robbed the paymaster of the Cabinet Makers Union on a street car. There was no proof against them and they were ordered to leave town. In Thompson Arnold's Interest. Rev. Homer Ashcraft, pastor of the California-street M. E. Church, has written a letter to the judge of the Whitley county court in the interest of Arnold Thompson who was implicated in the South Whitley bank scandal, and who was sentenced to prison for one year. Mr. Ashcraft is a personal friend of the convicted man, and believes him innocent. In his letter to the judge he asks that sentence be suspended, and shows a number of reasons why Arnold deserves the consideration of the court.
